Event Overview

Brian Hazelgren, CEO of Rx2Live, and best-selling author with over 30 years of business experience is ready to discuss what works and what doesn't with his panel of industry experts including Edward O'Brien president of Visionary Health & Wellness, LLC.

Proactive wellness programs are highly valuable tools for employees. Companies have a unique influence to reframe the mindset around health – and make it fun and effective. The more proactive stance toward well-being that companies can establish, it will feed off of itself and enhance employee's lives, while reducing healthcare costs.
